7:00 p.m., Lebowitz Meeting Hall

Catherine Brunell, author of Becoming Catholic Again: Connecting the Faith We Were Taught with the Faith We Live

Brunell tells her personal story, examining how to maintain an authentic spiritual life and a connection to the Church in a postmodern world. Brunell invites us to find solace in her story — and to realize that faith can be approached as a route to personal discovery that can lead to spiritual growth.

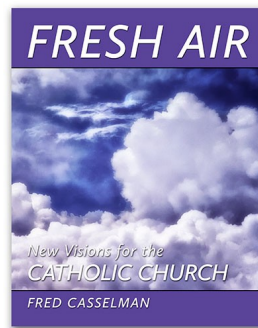

Catherine Wiecher Brunell is a pastoral minister of the everyday. Her life's work is about finding meaning in ordinary things by teaching and practicing faith. She has a master's degree pastoral ministry from Boston College. She lives in Natick, Massachusetts, with her four children and husband.

Fred Casselman, author of Fresh Air: New Visions for the Catholic Church

I've been making art for many years, but my work as an author and book designer is more recent. My art is intended to express a sense of harmony, love, and beauty. I strive for this same enlightened feeling in my writings and in my book designs.

Fred's book Fresh Air expands on tradition, bringing a more up-to-date, enlightened sense of love and the feminine into the Church. His writings are gentle and hold the space for new ways without invalidating the old.
